D'OLIVEIRAS

Founded in 1850, D'Oliveiras is still today family owned and is one of the original Madeira shippers. Their inventory of old and rare vintages has grown over time mostly through the acquisition of other wineries stocks. D'Oliveira believes that Madeiras age better in cask; therefore, the wines are only bottled upon request and when ready.

ORPHAN BARREL ARCHIVE COLLECTION

The Orphan Barrel Whiskey Distilling Company was organized by Diageo, the world's largest spirits company, as a vehicle for commercializing a large stock of ultra-aged American whiskeys that it had maturing at the Stitzel-Weller. Diageo described it as "an endeavor to rescue long forgotten barrels of rare and delicious whiskey and share them with others ... we like to think the project is founded in dark, quiet corners of rick houses around the world where artisanal whiskeys were forgotten, just waiting to be discovered."

BLACKADDER RAW CASK COLLECTION

Blackadder RAW CASK is Scotch whisky as it always was, Scotch whisky as it used to be. Every drop is "Whisky from the Old School". Bottled whisky as it would have been when served direct from the casks behind the bar in Scotland's pubs one hundred years or so ago. Without chill-filtering process, every bottle of Blackadder RAW CASK contains its own share of the cask sediments as well as of natural oils and fats to ensure the maximum possible natural flavors.
